March 6, 2011

Born in Brooklyn in 1960, Miles grew up on Long Island, NY with a dream to play in the NFL. He started playing Pop Warner football at age 10, was a standout in high school and a four-year starter at the University of New Haven in Connecticut. In 1981, he became the university's first All American football player. In 1982, he became the first player in the school's history to be drafted into the NFL.

Even though his dream had come true, there was still an emptiness in his heart. While using cocaine on the team plane, a teammate shared the gospel with him. Several months later, after his second year on the San Diego Chargers, Miles gave his life to Jesus Christ and was delivered from his cocaine habit in a single day. On that same day, he was also reunited with his girlfriend and they married five months later.

In 2000, he started the Rock Church, which is currently one of the nation's largest churches with a weekly attendance of over 12,000. He is also the author of Do Something, Make your Life Count and founder of Miles Ahead, an international youth evangelistic ministry.
