CAPTIVES NO MORE

MINISTRY HIGHLIGHT: PRISON MINISTRY

When you grow up in Cleveland, and your favorite teams are the perennially-losing Browns, Indians and Cavaliers, you learn to appreciate the underdog. That's why when former Ohioan, Darryl Anderson, the Rock's Prison Ministry Lead, walked into Donovan State Prison as a Prison Ministry volunteer for the first time, he immediately had a heart for what he saw: Donovan was a sea of underdogs. They are the ones who society deems as the losers. The result is that when we throw them into their cells for the crimes they have committed, they become society's forgotten. "My heart breaks for these guys," says Darryl.

"Some of the guys who I visit have been behind bars for 40 years and will die inside these walls. While it's easy to look the other way because these guys are getting what they deserve, which one of the sins that they've committed did Jesus not die for?"

It may seem like an unwanted burden to traverse the harsh grounds of the prison system to bring the Gospel message to the inmates, but the volunteers tell a very different story.

"We get to see God reach into hearts that have no hope and set them free," says Darryl. "When Jesus says He has come to set the captives free, we get to witness the truest sense of that right before our eyes. It can't help but change you every time." Prison is ground zero for your faith.

The success of the Prison Ministry has broken out of Donovan and there have been requests for the Rock to start reaching prisons in South Bay and Vista.

Says Darryl, "Right now, we don't have the personnel to meet the need. We need real men—like Joshuas and Calebs who after they spied out the land of Canaan, in spite of what they saw said, "FOR WE ARE WELL ABLE TO OVERCOME IT." (Numbers 13:30).
