What did Jesus really come to do? Beyond the saving of mankind from their sin, what were His real intentions?

Silly question? Not to people in scholarly communities who meet to discuss the truth behind Christ's motivations and capabilities.

It's not that study and investigation are bad things in and of themselves, but if they really want to get to the truth, the real truth, they need only look at the Bible. In other words, one can search outside the Bible for answers, but God, who breathed the Bible into being, really didn't leave that as an option.
